OBJECTIVE

To develop myself personally and professionally by obtaining all knowledge possible from my management and coworkers. I am personable, energetic and skilled, and am searching for and pursuing the correct opportunity to be challenged and develop my skills and talents further. Having excellent interpersonal and professional demeanor and communication skills has helped me to succeed thus far, and will assuredly benefit business. I determined that I was moving along a path from job to job that while enjoyable, failed to take advantage of what I am truly capable of. I have skills that were not being challenged or focused. So, time to make a complete change into a new career field that would take advantage of those potentials.
